Earn while you learn in the DRIVER APPRENTICE PROGRAM

The Driver Development Course was established to foster FedEx Freight growth and to provide professional driving skills development for team members in the Driver Apprentice Program. There is no cost to the team member for participation in this program valued at $7,500 and participants are compensated while they learn. The program incorporates computer based education, DVDs, and hands-on instruction. The objectives are to:

- Obtain knowledge of control systems, vehicle inspections, basic control, shifting, backing, coupling and uncoupling, visual search, communication, space management, speed management, night driving, extreme driving conditions, hazard awareness, emergency maneuvers, skid control, hours of service, log/trip reporting and the Smith System safe driving principles.
- Demonstrate basic and advanced driving skills according to the FedEx Freight policies and procedures, as well as state and federal regulations.
- Apply driving skills and procedures as it relates to the linehaul and pickup/delivery operations.

Upon successful completion of the course and obtainment of a Class A CDL and endorsements, the apprentice will be eligible for a promotion to a driver position.
